PUBLIC STATEMENT...

01 September 2025...

WhatsApp suspended my account... Their excuse? "Spam." The truth? Original, authored resistance...

I did not forward memes, neither did I circulate clickbait...

I shared my own written work - crafted with intent, sharpened with critique, rooted in South African reality...

Words that expose... Words that awaken... Words that threaten the machinery of control...

Whatsapp labelled it "spam" to sanitize their censorship...

But let's be clear: when platforms erase original thought, they're not moderating - they're silencing...

They fear authorship, they fear clarity... They fear ideological precision...

I appealed and they reviewed... Their final verdict: "This account can no longer use WhatsApp."

No dialogue nor transparency... Just bureaucratic exile... Their so-called "terms of service" are not rules - they're instruments of suppression...

This is not a suspension, it is a digital indictment of truth... And I wear it as proof that my work matters...

I will not be softened, neither will I be erased...

My words will migrate... My message will multiply...

Let this act of suppression become the next chapter in my resistance...

Then this morning, they just reinstated my account again!...
